Born in Épernay, Bryan is the grandson of winegrowers from the historic Champagne region of Dizy (Marne).

From a very early age, he helped his grandfather with work in the vineyard. With the pruning, tying, trellising, green harvesting and grape harvesting, he learnt to follow the rhythm of the seasons.

Bryan Dessaint

Attracted by commercial studies, he first opted for a university diploma in international trade. Wishing to maintain the connection with wine, he continued with a degree in international trade in wines and spirits at the University of Reims and the Lycée viticole de la Champagne. He continued his training in vineyards in France and abroad. By 2010, Bryan felt that trade was taking him away from the very essence of the product. He decided to retrain in production and started a BTS in viticulture and oenology as a work-study trainee at Château Angelus. He trained with Hubert de Boüard and his team, where he learnt much from the viticultural and winemaking practices of a premier grand cru classé. On graduating in 2012, Hubert de Boüard entrusted him with the winemaking at Château de Francs in the Côtes de Bordeaux. Convinced that he had found his calling, he studied for the National Oenology Diploma, which he obtained in June 2015. In September of the same year, he joined the Hubert de Boüard Consulting team. In 2022, his experience and his relationship of trust led to him being put in charge of the team already in place for producing the wines of La Fleur de Boüard.
